DeVilbiss Healthcare is pleased to offer this Sleep Therapy and Management Workshop worth 6 Continuing Education Credits approved through the AARC and AAST! This interactive workshop includes the following modules:

Introduction to Interfaces

Review the various types of interfaces used in PAP therapy and participate in an interactive interface fitting clinic.

Autotitrating CPAP: Theory and Practical Aspects

Review the basics of autotitrating CPAP as well as literature written on APAP devices.

Autotitrating CPAP: Reading Studies

Autotitrating CPAPs can be used to determine fixed CPAP pressures or used in long-term treatment of OSA. Review patient data and discuss the proper way to treat the OSA patient.

CPAP Adherence and the Medicare Standards

This module will review issues related to getting patient's adherent to PAP therapy. This issue affects the patient's long-term benefits to PAP therapy as well as influences the reimbursement of the patients on PAP therapy.

Presenters

Dave Henry, RRT
Respiratory Specialist

With more than 35 years experience as an RT, Dave has been with DeVilbiss Healthcare since 1994 providing clinical support to the engineering, marketing and sales teams. Previously, he worked as a Director of Cardiopulmonary Services for a local hospital and as an Adjunct Professor in a Bachelor's level Respiratory Care Program.

Heather Murgatroyd, RRT
Respiratory Specialist

Prior to joining DeVilbiss in 2011, Heather spent nearly 20 years as an RT in a clinical setting. She spent many years performing EEGs and Pulmonary Function Tests. Also trained as a Sleep Tech, Heather has performed PSGs, titrations, MSLTs, acclimations and has scored studies. She most recently worked in home care setting patients up on CPAP.
